To Colonel The Earl of Denbigh and Desmond

Commanding

The Honourable Artillery Company of London

from

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts

GREETINGS

Your contribution to England's place in the Family of the Nations is a brilliant chapter in her long and honorable history, and on the long roll of gallant sons whose service on land and sea has raised high her standards and made possible her progress none have excelled in devoted loyalty to her lofty ideals.

Under your valiant leadership the Honourable Artillery Company has kept the faith and steadfast to its traditions reached to upward levels of service and sacrifice for God and Country in peace and war.

While the long years have been full to overflowing with the exacting and at times arduous duties of your high office, yet have you sought time and opportunity to strengthen the bonds of friendship and to bind together in a common cause, the Honourable Artillery Company of London and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

And that which you more than all others have made possible has been an abiding influence for a better understanding between England and America, a keener appreciation of our mutual heritage and just pride of ancestry.

Secure in the knowledge of duty well done, crowned with honors and contemplating in these latter days relief from active service to rest from your labors; we, your comrades of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, salute you.

May the years be many through the rest of the journey, the sunset trail smooth to your feet, strewn with the roses of happy memories and the pathway made glad in the company of those dear to you is our most earnest desire.
